STATE STREET GLOBAL MARKETS.

David Puth*
Executive Vice President
Head of State Street Global Markets

David Puth is an executive vice president in charge of State Street's Global Markets businesses. Mr. Puth is also a member of State Street's Management Committee, the company's senior-most strategy and policy making team.

State Street Global Markets includes the company's investment research, securities finance and trading activities worldwide. State Street provides specialized investment research and trading to institutional investors across foreign exchange, equities and fixed income, and is a global leader in the securities lending industry. State Street is also one of the world's largest foreign exchange dealers for institutional clients and a major provider of execution services for foreign exchange through its E-Exchange platforms.

From 1988 through 2007, Mr. Puth worked for JPMorgan Chase, where he was a member of the company's Executive Group. In 2007, Mr. Puth founded the Eriska Group, an investment advisory and risk management consulting firm, where he worked until joining State Street in August of 2008.

Mr. Puth is a member of the board of the Robin Hood Foundation, one of the country's leading voices in the fight against poverty that focuses its efforts on the City of New York. Mr. Puth is also a trustee of the Berkshire School, a preparatory school in Sheffield, Massachusetts, and a member of the board of the Institute for Global Leadership at Tufts University.

Mr. Puth holds a Bachelor of Arts degree from Tufts University.
