Universität St.Gallen

Global Leadership Seminar

September 27 – September 30, 2006

Tufts University European Center, Talloires France

Organisation and Participants

Contents*

I. About the Conference
II. Schedule
III. Speaker Biographies

* http://fletcher.tufts.edu/global/index.shtml

I. About the Conference

Transcontinental awareness is becoming an increasingly important element in understanding global political and economic developments. The Global Leadership Seminar (GLS) seeks to raise this awareness by convening representatives from three continents to participate in discussions around contemporary global issues. This seminar strives to foster dialogue between students, faculty members, and practitioners from Europe, the United States, and Asia. The Global Leadership Seminar is comprised of the Student Seminar (September 27-29) and the Leadership Seminar (September 29-30).

The Global Leadership Seminar is sponsored by Ecoscientia Foundation and Holcim Group.

The Student Seminar (September 27-29)
The student seminar will bring together approximately 40 students and faculty from four leading graduate schools of international affairs and public policy for an intensive 2 days of discussions centering on pressing international issues. The first day will be devoted to "The Proliferation of Weapons of Mass Destruction: Causes, Consequences, How to Control," and the second day will address "Regional or Multilateral Economic Governance: How to Proceed after the Doha-Round?"

The objective of the seminar is to lead the participants, tomorrow's policy makers, to a better understanding of the complexities and varying perspectives surrounding these two critical issues

Participating Schools:

- College of Europe, Bruges, Belgium
- The Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy, Tufts University, USA
- Lee Kuan Yew School, National University of Singapore, Singapore
- University of St. Gallen, Switzerland

The Leadership Seminar (September 29-30)
The Leadership Seminar convenes senior persons with high-level management responsibilities in public and private organizations for an intensive exchange of ideas about various topics surrounding the theme, "The Evolving Economic and Political Architecture in Asia and its Geo-strategic Impact". Due to rapid economic growth and political consolidation, the balance of economic and political influence in Asia is taking new directions. This has an impact on the economic and political architecture in Asia, but is also of great relevance for America and Europe. It can lead to further shifts in the international division of labour. It will change the pattern of influence in the WTO and other international organisations. Particularly important will be the continuing impact on global energy markets. The large changes in economic power will have an influence on the balance of political power and representation in international organisations and negotiations.

This seminar's objective to sharpen its participants' awareness of economic and political trends which will be of utmost strategic importance for public and private leaders.

The Tufts University European Center (Talloires, France) also known as "The Priory", is a historic building that was once part of the Benedictine Monastery. The Priory is a composite of architectural styles, containing Gallo-Roman foundations, medieval crypts, and one of the few remaining medieval chapter halls in Europe with a beautiful 15th century wooden ceiling. The late Donald MacJannet, a Tufts graduate, and his wife, Charlotte, donated the building to Tufts in 1978. When Tufts first acquired the building, they carried out extensive renovations, including updating the electrical and heating systems. As a result the building provides twenty-first century standards of convenience while preserving the historical authenticity of a national monument.

II. Schedule

Wednesday, September 27—Student Seminar

Mid-day	Student and faculty participants arrive
17:00-18:30	Registration and welcome Reception at the Priory
18:45	Group dinner at restaurant in Talloires

Thursday, September 28 –Student Seminar

"Proliferation of Weapons of Mass Destruction:
Causes, Consequences, How to Control?"

Faculty:	Michael Glennon Professor of International Law, The Fletcher School, Tufts University T. S. Gopi Rethinaraj Professor, Lee Kuan Yew School, National University of Singapore
9:00-12:00	Working session with coffee break at Priory
12:30-14:30	Group luncheon at restaurant in Talloires
15:00-17:00	Working session with coffee break at Priory
18:00-19:00	Music recital at Priory
19:30	Reception and group dinner at restaurant in Talloires

Friday, September 29—Student Seminar

"Regional or Multilateral Economic Governance:
How to Proceed after the Doha-Round?"

Faculty:	Jacques Bourgeois Professor, College of Europe, Bruges Partner, Akin, Gump, Strauss, Hauer & Feld (Brussels) Simon Evenett Professor of International Economics, University of St. Gallen M. Ramesh Professor, Lee Kuan Yew School, National University of Singapore
8:00-9:00	Tours of Priory available
9:00-12:00	Working session with coffee break at Priory
12:30-14:30	Group luncheon at restaurant in Talloires
15:00-17:00	Working session with coffee break at Priory
18:00-19:30	Reception with practitioners at Priory
19:45	Group dinner at restaurant in Talloires

Friday, September 29—Leadership Seminar

Mid-day	Practitioners arrive
18:00-19:30	Welcome reception with students and faculty at Priory
19:45	Group dinner at restaurant in Talloires

Saturday, September 30—Leadership Seminar

"The Evolving Economic and Political Architecture in Asia and its Geo-strategic Impact"

Presenters:	Stephen W. Bosworth Dean, The Fletcher School, Tufts University Harinder Kohli President and Chief Executive Officer, Centennial Group, Washington D.C. Jean-Pierre Lehmann Professor of International Political Economy at IMD & Founding Director of The Evian Group Kishore Mahbubani Dean, Lee Kwan Yew School of Public Policy, National University of Singapore Jacques Pelkmans Professor, College of Europe, Bruges Wolfgang Schürer Professor, University of St. Gallen, Chairman MS Management Service AG Jusuf Wanandi Chairman of the Supervisory Board and Member of the Board of Directors of the Center for Strategic and International Studies
9:00-9:15	Welcome and Introduction
9:15-10:30	Session 1: The Security Situation in Asia: Old Conflicts and New Challenges Stephen W. Bosworth Dean, The Fletcher School, Tufts University Jusuf Wanandi Chairman of the Supervisory Board and Member of the Board of Directors of the Center for Strategic and International Studies
10:30-10:45	Coffee Break
10:45-12:00	Session 2: Will the 21st Century be an Asian Century? Jean-Pierre Lehmann Professor of International Political Economy, IMD and Founding Director, The Evian Group Kishore Mahbubani Dean, Lee Kwan Yew School of Public Policy, National University of Singapore
12:00-14:30	Lunch at restaurant in Talloires
14:30-15:45	Session 3: Regional Integration in Asia Harinder Kohli

	President and Chief Executive Officer, Centennial Group, Washington D.C. Jusuf Wanandi Chairman of the Supervisory Board and Member of the Board of Directors of the Center for Strategic and International Studies
15:45-16:00	Coffee Break
16:00-17:15	Session 4: How to Respond to the Asian Challenge? Stephen W. Bosworth Dean, The Fletcher School, Tufts University Jacques Pelkmans Professor, College of Europe, Bruges Wolfgang Schürer Professor, University of St. Gallen, Chairman MS Management Service AG
17:15-17:30	Wrap Up
19:00	Reception and dinner at fondue restaurant above Talloires

IV. Speaker Biographies

Stephen W. Bosworth is Dean of the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy, Tufts University. He served as U. S. Ambassador to the Republic of Korea (1997-2000), Ambassador to the Philippines (1984-1987) and Ambassador to Tunisia (1979-1981). Previous Foreign Service assignments include Paris, Madrid, Panama City, and Washington DC serving as Director of Policy Planning, Principal Deputy Assistant Secretary of State for Inter-American Affairs, Deputy Assistant Secretary for Economic Affairs, and Director of the Office of Fuels and Energy. Ambassador Bosworth was Recipient of American Academy of Diplomacy's Diplomat of the Year Award (1987), Executive Director, Korean Peninsula Energy Development Organization (KEDO) (1995-1997), President of the United States Japan Foundation (1987-1995). He taught at Columbia University's School of International and Public Affairs (1990-1994) and was Linowitz Chair of International Studies, Hamilton College (1993). Dean Bosworth is Trustee, Dartmouth College (1992-present) and, Chairman of Board of Trustees (1996-1999).
The Ambassador's research interests include U.S.-Korean, U.S.-Japan, U.S.-Asian relations, U.S. Foreign Policy, International Finance and Trade, Energy, Arms control and Disarmament. He has just recently co-authored with Morton Abramowitz, Chasing the Sun: Rethinking East Asian Policy, which sets out guidelines for a new course in U.S.—East Asian policy.
Ambassador Bosworth holds AB and LLD (Hon.) degrees from Dartmouth College.

Jacques H.J. Bourgeois lectures and publishes on subjects of EC Economic Law, with emphasis on Competition Law and Trade Law, and on WTO Law. He is a professor at the College of Europe since 1972. Prior to his career at the College of Europe, he has taught at numerous universities including Universidad Autonoma de Barcelona, Sankt-Gallen University of Zurich Law schools, the University of Michigan Law School (1976), the University of Bonn (1992-1993). He is a member of the Brussels Bar and a partner of Akin, Gump, Strauss, Hauer & Feld. Mr. Bourgeouis is chairman of a WTO dispute settlement panel and holds a Juris doctor from the University of Gent.

Simon J. Evenett is professor of International Trade and Economic Development at the University of St. Gallen, Switzerland. In addition to his research into the determinants of international commercial flows, Professor Evenett is particularly interested in the relationships between international trade policy, national competition law and policy, and economic development. He obtained his Ph.D. in Economics from Yale University and a B.A.(Hons) from the University of Cambridge. Professor Evenett has been a (non-resident) Senior Fellow of the Economic Studies Programme in the Brookings Institution, Washington, D.C. Previously, he has taught at Oxford University and Rutgers University as well as serving twice as a World Bank official.

Michael J. Glennon is professor of international law at the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy, Tufts University, in Medford, Massachusetts. Prior to going into teaching, he was Legal Counsel to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee (1977-1980) and Assistant Counsel in the Office of the Legislative Counsel of the United States Senate (1973-1977). In 1998 he taught international and constitutional law in Lithuania on a Fulbright fellowship. During the 2001-2002 academic year he was a Fellow at the Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars in Washington, DC. Professor Glennon has served as a consultant to various congressional committees, the U.S. State Department, and the International Atomic Energy Agency. He is the recipient of the Deak Prize and Certificate of Merit from the American Society of International Law. From 1986 to 1999 he was a member of the Board of Editors of the American Journal of International Law. He is a member of the American Law Institute and the Council on Foreign Relations.

Harinder Kohli is President and CEO of the Centennial Group, Chairman of Centennial Group Latin America and a board member of several private corporations in Asia and the USA. Mr. Kohli worked at the World Bank for 25 years where he was Director of the Maghreb and Iran Department, Director of the Technical Department for Europe and Central Asia and Director of the Information, Technology and Facilities Department. He has written widely on Public Private Partnerships for Infrastructure Development and financial development. Before joining the Bank Mr. Kohli worked in the private sector in India and France. He was educated at Punjab University and Harvard Business School.

Jean-Pierre Lehmann, founding director of the Evian Group, has been Professor of International Political Economy at IMD International Institute for Management Development since January 1997. His main areas of expertise are the socio-economic and business dynamics of East Asia, the impact of globalisation on developing countries and the government - business interface, especially in respect to the global trade and investment policy process. He acts in various leading capacities in several public policy forums and organizations. In 1995 Jean-Pierre Lehmann launched the Evian Group, which consists of high ranking officials, business executives, independent experts and opinion leaders from Europe, Asia and the Americas. The Evian Group's focus is on the international economic order in the global era, specifically the reciprocal impact and influence of international business and the WTO agenda. Prior to joining IMD, Jean-Pierre Lehmann has had both an academic and a business career which over the years has encompassed activities in virtually all East Asian and Western European countries, as well as North America. He was (from 1992) the founding director of the European Institute of Japanese Studies (EIJS) at the Stockholm School of Economics and Professor of East Asian Political Economy and Business. From 1986 to 1992 he established and directed the East Asian operations of InterMatrix, a London based business strategy research and consulting organisation. During that time he was operating primarily from Tokyo, with offices in Seoul, Taipei, Bangkok and Jakarta and was concurrently Affiliated Professor of International Business at the London Business School.
Jean-Pierre Lehmann obtained his undergraduate degree from Georgetown University, Washington DC, and his doctorate from Oxford University (St Antony's College). He is the author of several books and numerous articles and papers primarily dealing with modern East Asian history and East Asia and the international political economy.

Kishore Mahbubani, a student of philosophy and history, has had the good fortune of enjoying a career in government and in writing and publishing. With the Singapore Foreign Service from 1971 to 2004, he had postings in Cambodia (where he served during the war in 1973-74), Malaysia and Washington, DC, and he served two stints as Singapore Ambassador to the UN. He also served as President of the UN Security Council in Jan 2001 and May 2002. He was Permanent Secretary at the Foreign Ministry from 1993 to 1998.

In the world of ideas, he has spoken and published in all corners of the globe. He published his first article in Foreign Affairs in 1983, which was then followed by articles and op-ed pieces in several journals and newspapers. For his writings and other contributions, he has been profiled in the Economist and in Time Magazine and his writings have been widely cited and quoted. He is the author of "Can Asians Think?" (published in Singapore, Canada, US, Mexico, India and forthcoming in China) and of "Beyond the Age of Innocence: Rebuilding Trust between America and the World " (published by Public Affairs in New York in March 2005).

His experience in public service and in the world of ideas has come to serve him well in his new appointment on 16 August 2004 as the first Dean of the Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy at the National University of Singapore. Concurrently, Mr Mahbubani continues to serve in various advisory capacities to various institutions in Singapore and North America.

Mr Mahbubani was awarded the President's Scholarship in 1967. He graduated with a First Class honours degree in Philosophy from the University of Singapore in 1971. From Dalhousie University, Canada, he received a Masters degree in Philosophy in 1976 and an honorary doctorate in 1995. He also served as a fellow at the Center for International Affairs at Harvard University from 1991 to 1992.

He has also been conferred The Public Administration Medal (Gold) by the Singapore Government in 1998 and the Foreign Policy Association Medal in New York in June 2004 with the following opening words in the citation for the medal: "A gifted diplomat, a student of history and philosophy, a provocative writer and an intuitive thinker". Mr. Mahbubani has been named one of the Top 100 Public Intellectuals by Foreign Policy & Prospect magazines.

Jacques Pelkmans holds the Jan Tinbergen Chair for European Economics and is Director of the European Economic Studies Programme at the College of Europe, Bruges. He is member of the Scientific Council for Government Policy (WRR) in The Hague since January 2001and Associate Fellow (between 1990 and early 2001 he was Senior Research Fellow) at the Centre for European Policy Studies (CEPS) in Brussels.

Previous positions include: associate Professor of Economics at the European University Institute in Florence (1979-1982), Professor of Economics at the European Institute of Public Administration in Maastricht (1982 -1989), and Professor for European Economic Integration at the University of Maastricht (between 1992 and July 2002).

He was former Research Director at the European Institute for Asian Studies in Brussels, after setting up the Institute (1995/1996) and Visiting Professor in a number of universities (recently in Basel and Rennes-I) in Europe and the U.S and at the College of Europe at Natolin (1998-2001).

Jacques Pelkmans has been a consultant to the OECD, UNIDO, UNDP, UNCTAD, and the EC Commission.

His current research interests are the EU's trade policy, economic regulation and regulatory reform in the EU, economic regionalism (including ASEAN & AFTA, ASEM, APEC) and the economics of technical standards. He is author of many publications on various aspects of European economic integration and on international trade policy and investment.

M Ramesh is a leading expert on social policies in East and Southeast Asia. He is the author/co-author of "Social Policies in East and Southeast Asia", "Welfare Capitalism in Southeast Asia", "Studying Public Policy", and "Canadian Political Economy". He has also published widely in senior refereed journals and is the Editor of the journal "Policy and Society". His current research is on comparative political economy of People's Republic of China, Republic of India and Korea. Ramesh has held teaching or visiting appointments in Australia, Canada, Hong Kong, New Zealand, Norway, and USA. He currently teaches business and government, globalisation and public policy, and social policy at the National University of Singapore. In addition, he has been involved in establishing professional associations in Political Science (APISA) and Public Policy (NAPSIPAG) in Asia.

T S Gopi Rethinaraj teaches courses on science and technology policy, energy policy, and nuclear security affairs at The National University of Singapore. He received his PhD in nuclear engineering under the supervision of Dr. Clifford Singer at the Program in Arms Control, Disarmament and International Security, a multi-disciplinary teaching and research programme devoted to military and non-military security policy issues. He also had a four-year stint as journalist with The Indian Express based in Mumbai, and has written on science, technology, and security issues for Jane's Intelligence Review and Reuters. He received a visiting fellowship from the Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists, Chicago, for investigative reporting on South Asian nuclear security.

Wolfgang Schürer was born 1946 in Coburg (Germany), he pursued his studies at the University for Business Administration, Economics, Law and Social Sciences, in St. Gallen, where he obtained his M.B.A. in 1970. In 1969, he set up the International Students' Committee (ISC) which annually organizes the International Management Symposia at the University of St. Gallen. Under his leadership, the Symposia have evolved into a forum of international reputation. In 1973, Mr. Schuerer founded his own consulting company, MS Management Service AG, of which he serves as Chairman and CEO. Currently, he also participates on the Board of several corporations, academic institutions and foundations, among them his chairmanship of the "Foundation Lindau Nobelprizewinners Meetings at Lake Constance" and his responsibilities as a member of the Curatorium and special representative of The Hague Academy of International Law, The Hague and the board of The Hague Forum of Global Dialogue on Regulatory Issue, The Hague.
In 2001, he became a Distinguished Professor in the Practice of International Business Diplomacy, at Georgetown University, School of Foreign Service, Washington, D.C. The University of St. Gallen awarded him an Honorary Doctorate in 1999 and in 2005 appointed him as permanent visiting Professor for Public Affairs. Mr. Schuerer is also a Fellow of the International Academy of Management, USA.

Jusuf Wanandi is Chairman of the Supervisory Board and Member of the Board of Directors of the Center for Strategic and International Studies (CSIS). He is also the Chairman of the Indonesian National Committee for Pacific Economic Cooperation Council (PECC) and Chairman of CSCAP Indonesia, and concurrently the co-chair of the Steering Committee of CSCAP (Council for Security Cooperation in the Asia-Pacific). He is also President Director of the Jakarta Post, national English daily, as well as Board Chairman of the Graduate School of Management Prasetiya Mulya and Chairman of the Foundation of Panca Bhakti University in Pontianak.

A lawyer by training, Jusuf Wanandi was Assistant Professor of Law at the University of Indonesia, and has served in various national and international organizations in the course of his career. He was appointed as Secretary of the Indonesian Supreme Advisory Council, Secretary General of the National Education Council, and as four-term representative in the People's Consultative Assembly. Jusuf Wanandi has been very active in the domestic political development. His active engagement has dated as far as the 1950s. He was one of the most prominent leaders in the Catholic University Students Association (PMKRI) during its most critical involvement in student movements in the 1960s. He has written extensively in national and international magazines and newspaper and has edited a number of books on political and security developments in the Asia Pacific region.